

Latest INF World Ranking: Matches up to 17 May 2015

The INF World Rankings have been updated to take into account a number of international test matches and competition played during the last three months, specifically the Netball Europe Open and test matches between England and Trinidad and Tobago.

Despite lots of action on the court, the movement of the world rankings on this occasion was more subtle. The highest profile change sees Barbados leap-frog Trinidad & Tobago to take 9th spot in the rankings.

Switzerland and Malta are also celebrating improved rankings – 29th and 34th respectively – following promising outings at the Netball Europe Championships.
